Dear Colleague,

Ofsted Report

We wanted to write personally to you and colleagues across the school to thank you for all your hard work during the recent Ofsted inspection and congratulate you on a strong and thoroughly deserved report.

We all know that Hanwell Fields is making excellent progress, so it is very encouraging to receive such positive external recognition of the hard work and commitment of staff and pupils alike. Inspections are often stressful and challenging, requiring everyone to perform at their highest level in order to show a school at its best. It is therefore good news that Ofsted has been so impressed with the rapid pace of improvements.

We hope you all take pride in the feedback from inspectors, who have recognised the strength of teaching across the school and the significant impact this has had on raising pupils' attainment. It is clear that standards are rising considerably, particularly in writing and early years provision.

It is particularly encouraging to hear that parents are overwhelmingly positive about the school and feel fully involved in their child's learning.

Everyone – staff, pupils, parents and governors alike – should feel a sense of achievement in this positive report and I know that you will thank all of them on our behalf.

Wishing you all a very successful remainder of the term.

Yours sincerely,

Jon Coles
Chief Executive

Tracy Ruddle
Primary Director
