

History – Mrs Woods

I'm Mrs Woods and I am the History and Geography lead here at Hanwell Fields.

I have always been interested in both history and geography and as a result, have found planning, developing, and implementing a more enhanced curriculum at Hanwell, a welcomed challenge.

I have recently enrolled on an online course to improve my knowledge of geography in the current curriculum and as part of my continued professional development, I plan to take part in a history webinar, to discover more innovative ways to teach history in primary school.
